

The Crittenden Press.

VOLUME XII

MARION, CRITTENDEN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, OCT. 15, 1891.

NUMBER 17

PARNELL DEAD.

Death Comes After an Illness of Short Duration.

The Result of a Cold Contracted Only Last Week

Intense Excitement Created Throughout Great Britain and Ireland by the Unexpected Event—Biographical Sketch of the Late Irish Leader.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Parnell is dead. His death was the result of a chill with which he was attacked last week. On Friday he was compelled to take to his bed, and his death occurred at Waldford terrace, Brighton, at 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

CHARLES STEWART PARNELL.

Several hours before his death he became unconscious, and so remained until the end.

Mrs. Parnell and the physician were the only ones at the bedside when the dying man passed away. Mrs. Parnell believed up to the moment when death came that her husband would recover.

The exact nature of the disease which caused his death is not known. The Irish leader is not made known at present. Parnell, who is utterly prostrated by the shock experienced through her husband's death.

Parnell's Law Practice.

The last time Mr. Parnell appeared in public was at Drogheda in Ireland on Sept. 27, when he addressed a meeting upon the attitude and altered inconsistencies of Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien. Upon that occasion Mr. Parnell stated that he was speaking in defiance of the orders of the two doctors who were attending him, and had expressly ordered him to keep his room.

How the News Was Received.

The news of the death of Parnell fell like a thunderbolt upon the clubs and in political circles. Nobody, so far as is first known, was even aware that he was indisposed.

The telegrams received here from Dublin and other towns in Ireland and the principal towns of England, unite in reporting that the death of Mr. Parnell has caused the greatest sensation among his supporters, principally because of the sudden manner in which he died.

In Dublin the late Irish leader's supporters are in great consternation.

Parnell's Biography.

Charles Stewart Parnell was born at Avondale in the County Wicklow, Ireland, in the year 1846. He was a descendant of the Parnells, who in former times have associated with Irish parliamentarians for upwards of a century. His grandfather, Sir John Parnell, was the collector of the exchequer at the time of Gladstone's parliament. His grandfather was made a baronet in 1851. His mother was a daughter of Admiral Charles Stewart, a celebrated American naval officer, was educated at Cambridge university, but did not take any degree. After a tour in America, he settled down on his property in Avondale, where the death of John Parnell in 1856, Mr. Parnell, who was elected for County Meath and was elected, Mr. Parnell first took an active part in parliamentary affairs in the session of 1860, when in association with Mr. Biggar, he initiated what was known by the various names of the People's League and the People's Party. He joined in the formation of the People's League, and in October, 1867, he was elected its first president.

At the general election of 1880 he was elected for the city of Cork. He was elected in May, 1881, for the constituency of Cork, and was a member of the party in 1885, 13 votes for Mr. Shaw. He took an active part in the home league agitation. After the bad act was passed Mr. Parnell was arrested in October, 1881, on a charge of intimidation and obstructing the working of the franchise. He was released in May, 1882. At the general election of 1886 he was re-elected for Cork. Mr. Parnell formed an alliance with the Liberals, and by the vote of the Irish party overthrew the former government of Lord Salisbury Jan. 23. Mr. Parnell's name has since been prominently before the public in connection with the home rule proposals of Mr. Gladstone.

The proceedings of the parliamentary commission which resulted in victory for Mr. Parnell against The Times, and the exposure of the Pitot forgery; the O'Sullivan's correspondence, are matters fresh in the minds of all.

PARNELL'S LAST WORDS.

"Give My Love to My Colleagues and to the Irish People."

The last hours of Mr. Parnell were undesirably painful. The severe cold he contracted at Galway brought on a fever, and left him torpid on his bed. The doctors had the greatest fears, as he was unable to take any food, and on Monday night spasms set in, which, though intermittent, were of increasing strength and produced intense anguish. His pain was so great that morphine was administered, giving some little relief.

In the early periods of delirium, he had semi-conscious moments, during which he conversed weakly with those around him, his theme being constantly Ireland. That seemed to be the one idea that possessed him before unconsciousness came.

Between 6 and 7 o'clock on Tuesday evening he said, knowing that death was near:

"Give my love to my colleagues and to the Irish people."

This he said to his wife, who stood by his bedside, and then relapsed into unconsciousness, only partially disturbed by spasms, until twenty-five minutes before midnight, when the heart ceased to beat.

PARNELL'S FUNERAL.

No Disturbance Occurs in the Solemnity of the Occasion.

DUBLIN, Oct. 12.—Parnell's remains arrived at 7 a. m. Sunday. A large crowd was present at the depot. The body was taken to the city hall, and at 10 o'clock the funeral service was allowed the multitude to take a last look at the familiar features of the dead Irish leader.

By 2 it was estimated that 4,000 people had viewed the remains. At 2:45 the funeral cortège started for Glasnevin cemetery. The funeral procession was a long one. The number of mourners surpassed any spectacle ever seen in Dublin. At the cemetery it was almost impossible to force a way inside, owing to the great crowd of people already there. The O'Conor, O'Leary, and other marchionies started their march to the city. The anti-Parnellites did not attend. The Rev. Mr. Vincent, of the Rotunda chapel, the Rev. George Fry, the Irish Protestant clergyman, from Manchester, England, were the officiating clergymen.

BARRIOS' WIDOW TO WED.

A Spanish Stateswoman Wins the Wife.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Spanish papers received Sunday announced the coming marriage of Mme. Barrios, of this city, to Martinez Roda, member of the Spanish parliament from Granada. Mme. Barrios is a beautiful woman whose history is a romantic one. At the age of sixteen she was pupil in a convent school to which President Barrios paid a visit.

An entertainment was arranged for his visit, during which Queen Isabella, the daughter of a proud family, participated. The president fell in love with her then and there, and announced his intention of making her his wife. In a communication to her father he advised that she would not well be without his consent.

But the proud parent had other plans, and caused his daughter to be spirited away to Europe. As soon as Barrios learned this he ordered the father to be arrested and returned to him in the chain-gang, and his son was condemned to death.

The daughter was an unwilling bride. Her father was given a high office and afterwards was a principal in government irregularities by which he embezzled millions of dollars.

The heavy taxes are making it very unprofitable for the business of Oklahoma.

At Towson, Md., County Treasurer Morgan is $2,000 short.

An independent Republican organization is being formed to dethrone Quay in Pennsylvania, who, it is said, will, if reelected, be a candidate for the presidential election ticket to win.

Reconciliation with Colombia is now next on the list.

The president has finally accepted ex-senator Blair's resignation as minister to Brazil.

The Spanish board of admiralty is to build a caravel, a vessel similar to which Columbus made his voyage of discovery.

It is intended that the vessel shall be exhibited first at Madrid and afterwards at the Chicago fair.

The Cleveland lady has been named Klava, Kauai, means its hairy mayow to designate because of her warfare against subversives.

FOREIGN.

Italy has decided to take no part in the world's fair.

The queen of Spain seriously contemplates British protection.

Austria will undoubtedly appropriate $100,000 for the world's fair.

The king of Wurtemberg is dead.

William Horace Smith, English statesman, is dead.

Spain and Portugal are negotiating a treaty of commerce.

Many lives were lost at Brest, France, by storms on the sea.

The sultan seems unable to suppress brigandage. Train wrecking and levying of taxes are making Athamenes, chief of the brigands, rich.

Thousands of persons are reported dying of starvation in the Baku district of Russia.

The desultory peasantry in the districts of Novocherkassk, Rostov, and Saratov are still oppressing bread made of rye-wheat, and even that is beginning to fail.

In the province of Samara the government relief for the starving people has been restricted to a pound and a half of bread daily to each person.

Many men are missing in China.

More men may separate, as the former has republican ideas and may become a republic.

Claims and Commissions.

The French government will probably not make any exhibit at the world's fair.

John Houghton, of Lexington, Ky., married and fell off his chair who was sleeping on the floor. The child was instantly killed.

At Pittsburgh, Edward and Richard Scott, brothers, quarreled in a billiard hall. Edward drew a dirk and fatally stabbed his brother in the neck and lung.

At Greeley, Colo., Beaumont Kiser was killed by the parson's failing to open it.

SUNK IN A COLLISION.

WHY NATURAL GAS FAILS.

LAKE VESSELS COLLIDE IN A CANAL AND ONE GOES DOWN.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Oct. 12.—The steam barge Susan E. Peck, loaded with 60,000 bushels of wheat, when passing through Sault Ste. Marie, at the time when Can Bonaire came into collision with the schooner Gamma, Wm. Adams. She sank immediately after the collision, her decks going under water. All her crew were saved.

The Adams sustained considerable injury, but it was all above the water line. The Peck lies directly across the canal. This is a most serious delay to navigation, as no craft can pass her or go to Lake Superior until she is removed.

The Peck was valued at $15,000, and owned by Captain John Green, of Buffalo. The blockade at this season of the year is of unusual importance, as the volume of traffic is much increased.

Thousands of persons are reported dying of starvation in the Baku district of Russia.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The gas pressure is so great that the gas cannot be forced to go through such a distance as to get satisfaction.

The Crittenden Press

ISSUED WEEKLY.

R. C. WALKER, Publisher.

The Third Party comet does not appear in the Ohio political skies.

It is a "poor house" indeed and truth, that this county has.

The farmers of Crittenden are putting more intelligence in their work than ever before.

A county poor-house should not be a palace, nor should it be a hovel, filled with filth, rags and vermin.

The Princeton Banner issued a handsome trade edition last week. It was a credit to its publishers, and Princeton ought to be proud of it.

The English syndicate that owns Middleboro has decided to spend an additional $1,250,000 adding to the substantial qualities of the famous city.

We are indebted to the Frankfort Capital for a copy of the New Constitution in the shape of a supplement to that entertaining paper. It seems that Walter Evans has not circumvented the irrepressible publisher.

Mr. W. H. Asher deserves some credit for stirring up the poor-house matter. He knows a thing when he sees it, and is not doubtful about telling it when it comes in the line of duty. The magistrates ought to have kept him as Superintendent and raised his salary.

Indianapolis, Ind., went Democrat at the city election Tuesday by majorities ranging from 1500 to 3000. It was a hotly contested campaign and the winners are mighty proud. Indiana, however, is good at going Democratic, except in Presidential elections.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals has affirmed the decision of the Green county court in assessing a fine of $500 against the L. & N. railroad company for constructing rail road on Sunday. It is gratifying to note that Kentucky still respects a few of the great Ten Commandments.

Melbourne, the rain maker, has contracted to furnish next summer's supply of rain for a large scope of country in Northwest Kansas. He gets ten cents per acre for the territory supplied. Evidently there are a great many folks congregated in some sections of this country.

The Mayfield Mirror tells the following plaintive story, which may prove interesting to a couple of individuals in this section:

"John Bell, the negro from Bowling Green, who was charged with stealing a coat from a railroad coach had his trial yesterday evening, and was convicted and given twenty lashes."

The Madisonville Hustler uses no circumlocution in coming to the point. It says: "We hope the new legislature will pass a whipping post law applicable to the whole State. A cow-hide or a good stout hickory with the victim tied to a post, would two more do with stopping petty thieving than all the fines and rock piles in creation."

Many of the public roads have been worked well and the work has been intelligently done. When a few overseer, backed by spirited hands, get out old, lazy, time-killing ways, things begin to look more cheerful. Other will follow, and by and by the time will come when it cannot be truthfully said: "we have got the worst roads in the world."

Already test cases are beginning to bob up to try the metal of the new constitution. Monday, Montgomery county voted in favor of a $100,000 subscription to the stock of a proposed railroad. The stoppage of such things is one of the cardinal virtues of the new constitution. A judicial test will be made in the case to see whether the people are the sovereigns or the railroads king in this State.

A number of newspapers of the State are advocating the provision, by the railroad companies, of special coaches for the negroes. Some of the Southern states have adopted this plan. The coaches provided for the colored brother are in all respects equal to those for the other race. There are no reasons why Kentuckians, white or black, should object to the measure, and it certainly would avoid many unpleasant occurrences.

The Hon. Walter Evans has brought suit to test the constitutionality of the new constitution. He claims that the adjourned session had no right to change the original document as voted upon by the people. As many of the changes made amend the features that Mr. Evans objected to in the original, unthinking people might feel that he is affected with a desire for notoriety, or a superabundance of patriotism, or an attorney's fee.

THE COURT OF CLAIMS.

THE LEUY FOR 1802 FIXED $2.50 POLL. 10 CENTS ADVELORUM.

The Salaries and Other Claims Allowed by the Court.

The following Magistrates were in attendance:

J H Bugg, W M Morgan, J R Jackson, Theo. Vosier, C W Fox, T Ainsworth, W B Rankin, J C Stephenson, W H Arfleck, F J Imboden, G F Williams and W E Todd.

Motion to release J. A. Hudspeth and G N Moore from paying poll-tax was lost.

Jas Millican was released from poll-tax.

Eli Wring was released from road work.

It is ordered by the court that all road claims for plow and teams, wagon and team and scrapers on public roads, when properly certified and reported by the surveyors of road be and they are hereby allowed at $1.50 per day, "except pressed teams."

Mike Flagg allowed $12 for amount expended for burial of Walcutt.

W. R. Linham allowed $179.52 for balance due for keeping paupers from Oct. 13, 1890, to Jan. 1, 1891.

Wm S Woolson released from road work.

$20 each were allowed for benefit of Evana Holloman and Sydney Jones, pauper idiots.

Dr. J. R. Clark allowed $11 for medical services rendered Bruton and Ryan.

Drs. J. R. Clark and J. W. Crawford allowed $10 for medical services rendered John Crow.

J. R. Clark allowed $75 for services as health officer.

Jemima Reynolds allowed $25 to aid her in making support.

J. A. Hudspeth released from paying poll tax for 4 years.

W H. Wilson released from poll tax and road work.

J L Rankin allowed $1.65 for home, etc., for poor house.

It is ordered that the Superintendent of the poor-house be and he is directed to see that the paupers at the poor-house are provided with suitable clothing; if the keeper fails or refuses to do so, then the Superintendent is authorized to procure same, and charge to the account of the keeper.

L W Cruse allowed $7.75 for bridge lumber.

It is ordered that a sum not exceeding $200 be appropriated to repair Livingston creek bridge.

A J Pickens allowed $27.50 account.

The report of J W Blue for commissioner for Livingston creek bridge was received and the work done approved.

F J Imboden allowed $10 for services as bridge commissioners.

The report of J H Cliftor, bridge commissioner, was received.

A Moore, commissioner for Wilder bridge, filed report, and commissioner directed to borrow money to pay for bridge.

A B Shreeves released from road work.

J W Crawford allowed $2 for medicine for prisoner.

M G Gilbert released from paying poll tax.

C W Fox directed to have Pace ford bridge repaired.

J J Bennett allowed $5.50 for pauper coffin.

J W Crawford allowed $25 for medical services rendered CW Butler Marion Bank allowed $30 for discharging school draft.

$30 was appropriated for bridge on Montezuma and Shady Grove road.

J A Moore, J W Blue, Jr. and P S Maxwell were appointed commissioners to sell poor-house farm and re-invest proceeds in property within two miles of Marion.

R L Lynne allowed $6 for two pauper coffins.

Dr Swope allowed $8 for medical attention to prisoner.

J W Blue, Jr. reported the old clerk's office rented to Marion Bank for 1891 for $105. Judge Moore was authorized to rent same for 1892.

Jas Black released from poll tax.

Tom Brown, col., released from poll tax.

J W Adams was allowed $272.70 jailor's fees.

W C M Travis appointed Superintendent of poor-house for year 1892 at a salary of $15.

J W Blue and J A Moore authorized to rent poor-house farm and let keeping of paupers for the year 1892. D Woods' claim for road orders, etc., amounting to $218.20 was allowed.

Ordered that W J Deboe, county Superintendent, be allowed a salary of $497.20.

Ordered that J A Moore, County Judge, be allowed a salary of $500.

Ordered that J W Blue, Jr. County Attorney, be allowed a salary of $500.

Ordered that the county levy for 1892 be the same as is hereby fixed at $2.50 on each poll; and 10 cents on each $100 worth of taxable property.

Ordered that 15 cents on each $100 worth of taxable property in Marion precinct be levied for 1892 to pay interest on railroad.

Ordered that all the justices be allowed $8 per day each for 3 days' attendance at court.

Ordered that F J Imboden be allowed $20 on claims for keeping paupers.

Somebody told our office boy that somebody told him, that a man, whose name he did not remember, told a neighbor that he had read in the columns of some paper that Mrs. Cleveland has a baby. Without vouching for the truthfulness of the report we give it; for what it is worth, and would add parenthetically that there are no good reasons why it should not be correct.

It occurs to us that the following from the Farmers' Home Journal covers the case about as completely as language can:

"It really seems that the politicians in the Alliance do not want the measures they demand so much as they want to be instruments by which these measures are to be obtained. They prefer to defeat relief measures unless they come through a third party with themselves at the head of it. Their motives are purely selfish and they will fail. Still the spirit of the organization is aroused and it may work along and accomplish the purposes of the true Alliance despite these men who are working for self alone."

The report of Auditor Norman to the next Legislature will show that the number of pauper idiots in the State are on the decrease. Previous to the last Legislature the State always supported these unfortunate with an appropriation of $75 for each per annum. The last Legislature placed a portion of this burden on the counties, and this has brought about a saving to the State of $38,589.48. There are now 1,372 such persons, while in 1889 there were 1,418.

COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE

Fredonia Notes.

Rev. M. E. Chappell and wife were in Louisville last week.

Rev. Thomas the Methodist preacher for this district, preached at the C P church last Sunday.

Mrs Rentrow and daughter, of Ohio county, are visiting Mrs D B Ferguson, of Kelsey.

Miss Alma Mott was home on a visit from Morganfield Sunday.

Ed Threlkeld went to Dycusburg Sunday.

Sam Cassidy has sold his stock of groceries to John Rice and has bought J. H. Clifton & Son's stock of dry goods.

J P Myers, of Troy, Tenn., attended church here Sunday.

Very few from this vicinity attended the fair at Princeton.

A mad dog bit a good deal of stock and other dogs here about two weeks ago. Several of the dogs have been killed; too many dogs in this country.

Mrs Bulah Baker and Mrs Jake Baker, of Illinois, have been visiting here for several days.

Miss Aga Cole, Mamie Cole, Mollie Gililand, Bobbie Wiggin, and Henry Cole were visiting in Crittenden Saturday and Sunday.

Call on Jacobs & Deboe when you want the worth of your money in groceries. Bring on your eggs and chickens.

Miss Ruby Byrd will spend the winter with relatives in Sykeston, Mo.

Sam Cassidy cannot learn music for looking at the teacher.

New Salem.

Some sickness in the neighborhood.

The prospects for a wheat crop are very gloomy at present; about one-half of a crop is sown. Our farmers are waiting for rain to finish breaking their land, and unless we have rain in the next ten days the crop will be extremely short.

Dr Dallas L Rupe, of Columbus, III., is visiting his father's family near Levisa.

Last week Mr Pink Beshears and Miss Florence Bell, and Bud Wedley and Miss Armstrong pulled their freight for Golconda and were uniting in the bonds of wedlock.

Bill Tyner will leave this week for the west to look at the country.

The tobacco crop is all in the houses, and a fine crop so far as quality goes.

Born to the wife of Charley Binkley, a girl.

Born to the wife of John Woldford, a boy.

Marrried at the residence of the bride's father, Mr R B Brown, on the 4th of Oct., Mr Dunk Hodges and Miss Jessie Brown; Rev Utley performed the ceremony.

Ordered that C H Taylor is quite sick. The protracted meeting at Union has closed; 2 professors, and a good many others.

Protracted meeting closed at Emmaus Sunday.

Joe Pace and family, of Tolu, are visiting relatives and friends in this section.

Salem News.
Since our last everything has been very quiet about our little town.

The farmers are all busy sowing wheat and mowing sorghum.

The farmers have all made fine crops this year, and are happy. All of them have something to sell, and are getting good prices.

Most of our citizens are coal hauling.

Most of the road from here to Marion has been put in fine fix. Our friend Will Lowery gave his part of the road a lick last week and promised it more when it rains, and we hope he will not forget to make his promise good. I think the people of this place ought to help him to work his part of the road. It is to the interest of everybody to have good roads. Will, try them.

Our new circuit rider, Claude Thompson, is in our mid-tit.

Bro J B Lowey passed through Monday en route for Liberty church where he will assist in a series of meetings.

Bro Ligon left Monday for Union county to attend a wedding in which one of his brother preachers is one of the contracting parties.

We understand the meeting, at Union closed last Monday. Some of our boys that attended last Saturday night got in trouble on the road home. They were in a road cart and attempted to pass a buggy at a narrow place in the road, when they got into a ditch and turned over. Their horse became frightened and ran away, causing Mrs. Taylor to get thrown from her horse. We suppose the good people of Crittenden know that the law is for their protection and they should enforce it. So long as these things go unnoticed we may expect the boys to go from bad to worse.

If the party that took a buggy whip from a buggy at Union church last Saturday night didn't want to be exposed, they will do well to bring it to Salem and leave it at the post office. If it is not done before our next to the press we will publish them. Darkness does not always hide crime; you were seen and we know you. We don't want to expose you but we will surely do if you don't comply with our request.

Mrs Tom Robinson and daughter, from the Birdsville neighborhood, were visiting Ruth Boyd's family the first of the week.

Charlie Grasham, of Smithland, is visiting the home folks this week. He has just returned from Wickliff, where he passed his examination, and was granted license to practice law.

It is probable that he will go to Texas soon. Charlie is one of our best boys, and wish him success in all his undertakings in life.

Our school is progressing finely. We would be glad to see some of the patrons take more interest than they do.

Some boys in town start to school, but instead of going they lay around the stores and play ball in the streets till time to go home. Watch your boys and see where they are and what they are doing. Don't forget Bre. Carter's last sermon.

Our handsome young friend, Will Padon, has sold his farm and proposes to invest the proceeds in vocal and instrumental music—mostly vocal.

We can't say as to his aptitudes, but we think he is a very attentive scholar.

Mrs Boyd, at the post office, has a very handsome line of ladies hats which will sell very low. Call and see them and get her prices before going elsewhere to buy.

Our school is progressing finely.

At the Michigan experiment station the best varieties of green corn for succession there prove to be Cory, Crosby, Concord, Stabler and Golden Cob.

From the Connecticut station comes the report that cotton hulls ashes of the best quality are the cheapest source of potash, free from chlorides, to be found in our markets."

THE ELEPHANT FAILED TO WALK THE TIGHT ROPE SHOW DAY,

BUT WE DO NOT FAIL TO GIVE YOU AS MUCH GOODS FOR A DOLLAR AS ANY HOUSE IN THE STATE.

Respectfully

MOORE & DONAKY.

Dealers in DRY GOODS, CLOTHING, SHOES, ETC.

LOCAL NEWS.

By the Quartz.

We are still at the old stand, selling "Old Hickory," the best sour mash whisky made, by the quart.

F. E. Robertson & Co.

My boots and shoes are the best.

P. H. Woods.

Strained and comb honey—10cts per pound at my shop.

All kinds of Dry Goods at Gugenheim's.

Clothing at lower price than anywhere at Gugenheim's.

A big line of childrens hats and caps; latest styles, prettiest designs and best goods can be found at M. Rochester & Co.

New Ginghams and Calicos at Gugenheim's.

I want large onions, Irish potatoes, wheat, oats, eggs, chickens, feathers and rags, bags, fat yearlings and MONEY; goods are cheap.

P. H. Woods.

The nobbiest Clothing in the country is at Gugenheim's.

Don't buy a cheap hoot or shoe and expect it to wear all winter; buy good ones; P. H. Woods has them.

New Dress Goods at Gugenheim's.

Just received a lot of extra fine candies and fancy groceries.

M. L. Hayes.

Bring your eggs, feathers, dried fruit; P. H. Woods is paying living prices.

All kinds of Boots and Shoes at Gugenheim's.

Hays handles the celebrated claret soap.

Buy your Dry Goods and Clothing of Gugenheim, and get your money's worth.

Get a new style hat at Gugenheim's.

Dr. Jenkins, Dentist, is located at Morganfield, and makes special rates for patients from a distance.

Respectfully,
N. B. JENKINS,
Morganfield, Ky.

Bring me your bacon; my new boy is call for rations.

P. H. Woods.

A counter full of boys' wool hats will be sold at 15cts each at Mrs. Wolf's.

Look at my clothing; closing out at cost for cash.

P. H. Woods.

Get your boy a suit of clothes from Gugenheim.

Come in and look at our window shades.

Schwab.

Children like to take "C. C. C. Certain Chill Cure," the pleasant and guaranteed cure for Fever, Ague and Malaria—better than Quinine. Sold by Hilliard & Woods.

If your appetite is gone nothing will restore it more quickly than "C. C. C. Certain Chill Cure," the great Tonic and guaranteed cure for Chills and Fever. Sold by Hilliard & Woods.

Don't Forget

That you can get furniture, doors, glass, window shades at the lowest price.

Schwab.

Come and look at our table scarfs, chair tides and other novelties, they are beauties.

Mrs. Wolf

Our new stock of dress goods in plaids, ladies cloth and flannels can't be beat.

Mrs. Wolf

Clothing and overcoats at astonishing low prices.

Mrs. Wolf

Remember.

That the old reliable Dick Dorr has charge of the undertaking department. Full line of caskets, coffins, robes and slippers at Schwab's.

Furniture of all kinds, doors, sash and glass cheap at Schwab's.

Shoes! Shoes! Shoes for every body at Mrs. Wolf's.

The largest and prettiest lot of calicoes at Mrs. Wolf's

Our new stock is now all in and every department is full and complete at prices lower than ever.

Mrs. Wolf

Sugar, 30 lbs to the dollar at Morse & McConnel's.

J. D. Hodge, Secy.

John Wolf has sold his farm near Repton.

Rev. J. F. Price will preach at Chappell Hill next Sunday at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Parris, from Union county, has rented one of the Long business houses and will open a restaurant.

Wm. Johnson has filed suit against the O. V. railroad to recover damages for a horse killed by the road.

Dick Williams was in Marion Monday; he is somewhat illustrated over the sudden departure of his wife from his bed and board.

Mr. C. C. Woodall, of this county, took first premiums in four of the speed rings at the Princeton fair. He was first in the one-half mile dash for two year old; one-half mile heats for three year olds; free for all half mile heats; free for all mile dash. His two winning horses were Caleb West Jr. and Gray Tom.

There was an immense throng of horse traders in Marion Monday. Main street from Cameron's south was pretty well filled with these people and their horses all day long, and it kept the city marshal on the watch to keep them from surrounding the court house. Marion has purchased a lot purposely for these traders and the residents along the streets would be glad if they would use the lot, especially in dusty seasons.

The same old poll tax rate prevails in this county another year. It is $2.50. Our levy court holds that as the law which provides for a poll-tax is a statutory law, and the new constitution leaves the present statute in vogue, where there is a conflict, until the new statutes are completed, therefore it is not unlawful to make the poll-tax $2.50 this season. As the county has a considerable floating debt, the amount levied is an absolute necessity to hold the debt down to old figures.

Death of an estimable old lady. Monday afternoon Mrs. Jane Cruce relief of James Cruce, died at her home four miles south of Marion, in the 67th year of her age. She was widely known and admired for her many Christian virtues. She has raised a family of whom some value as citizens and success as business men testify to the valuable qualities this good Christian mother possessed. A. C. and Lee Cruce are rising lawyers in the west; W. I. Cruce is a well known attorney at the Marion bar; A. L. Cruce is our popular sheriff, and L. W. Cruce is one of Crittenton county's successful farmers.

The remains of their beloved mother was buried in the family grave yard on the Cruce farm Tuesday afternoon, and hundreds of the friends of the family were present at the obsequies to pay a last tribute of respect to her whom they had adored and loved in her life, and mourned in her death.

A Family Reunion.

The home of Mr. W. J. LaRue and wife, near Lewis, was the scene of a happy gathering and greeting of their children and grand children last week. The family consists of eight children, seven boys and one girl, whose ages extend from 19 to 37, and their average weight is 126 pounds. They are all married except the two youngest boys, who, though of age, still hang about the parental roof for shelter and protection, while the others all have pleasant homes in various parts of the country. Of the pursuits of life the represent to some degree at least, the doctor, the farmer, the miller, the merchant, the teacher, the preacher, and office-holder. Of course there were refreshing memoirs of by-gone days, and bursts of laughter as they recalled and recited to one another the varied events, youthful sports and games of childhood's years when they were boys together on the old plantation, and we half suspect they sighed for those happy days again. After indulging in these ever pleasing recollections they separated, each to his duties and responsibilities of life, with the hope of another reunion, if not in the old home here, in the new, one over there forever.

Acquitted.

Dick Sharp and Wm. Graves were tried Saturday for disturbing religious worship and were acquitted.

Deeds Recorded.

B. F. Horning to M. V. Horning interest in land for $200.

J. B. Hunt to W. N. Travis 34 acres for $200.

J. A. Rogers to J. S. Moore, 119 acres for $600.

County Court Orders.

The following road overseers were appointed: Thos A. Murray, John King, J. H. Young.

J. G. Brooks qualified as guardian for Jimmie C. Brooks.

G. L. Rankin qualified as notary public.

Religious Matters.

Elders Honry and Carter closed a series of meetings at Union church Sunday night. It resulted in a general revival of the church and a number of conversions.

Rev. Mr. Griffin closed a week meeting at Sugar Grove Sunday.

The people are well pleased with the pastor and his work. He lives at Elkhorn, Ky., and preaches to the Sugar Grove congregation once a month.

Rev. S. K. Breeding is holding a meeting at Hillsdale this week. The church has recently been added to his charge.

Death of an estimable old lady.

Monday afternoon Mrs. Jane Cruce relief of James Cruce, died at her home four miles south of Marion, in the 67th year of her age. She was widely known and admired for her many Christian virtues.

She has raised a family of whom some value as citizens and success as business men testify to the valuable qualities this good Christian mother possessed. A. C. and Lee Cruce are rising lawyers in the west; W. I. Cruce is a well known attorney at the Marion bar; A. L. Cruce is our popular sheriff, and L. W. Cruce is one of Crittenton county's successful farmers.

The remains of their beloved mother was buried in the family grave yard on the Cruce farm Tuesday afternoon, and hundreds of the friends of the family were present at the obsequies to pay a last tribute of respect to her whom they had adored and loved in her life, and mourned in her death.

A Family Reunion.

The home of Mr. W. J. LaRue and wife, near Lewis, was the scene of a happy gathering and greeting of their children and grand children last week. The family consists of eight children, seven boys and one girl, whose ages extend from 19 to 37, and their average weight is 126 pounds. They are all married except the two youngest boys, who, though of age, still hang about the parental roof for shelter and protection, while the others all have pleasant homes in various parts of the country. Of the pursuits of life the represent to some degree at least, the doctor, the farmer, the miller, the merchant, the teacher, the preacher, and office-holder. Of course there were refreshing memoirs of by-gone days, and bursts of laughter as they recalled and recited to one another the varied events, youthful sports and games of childhood's years when they were boys together on the old plantation, and we half suspect they sighed for those happy days again. After indulging in these ever pleasing recollections they separated, each to his duties and responsibilities of life, with the hope of another reunion, if not in the old home here, in the new, one over there forever.

In Jail.

Tuesday evening Constable Geo. Kosinski, of Huronville, came to town with Boyd Lynn and Mrs. Mollie Williams under his official care. They were arrested upon a writ sworn out by Dick Williams, the husband of the woman, charging them with adultery. Failing to give bond, they were committed to await trial which was fixed for to-day before County Judge Moore.

Jas. McLean Hughes, col., died at the residence of his father, "Uncle Si," last Friday, in the 86th year of his age. He was an industrious, well-behaved and well thought of young man. His deportment had won for him friends among the white as well as the colored people, and the respect that his white acquaintances had for him shows that the negro has good chance in this country, when he conducts himself properly, as anybody else. We could pay no higher tribute to McLean than to say that if all the people conducted themselves as properly as he did, the vexatious race problem would be, in a measure, settled.

A. O. U. W.

One of the safest and best secret organizations for insurance, social and mutual beneficiary purposes is the Ancient Order of United Workmen. Mr. G. C. Genung, of Evansville, is in Marion to organize a Lodge. He addressed a number of citizens at the Methodist church last night, and secured the names of a number of good citizens who will go into the organization.

Notice.

There will be a call meeting of the Crittenton county F. & L. U. in Marion Oct. 27, 1891. All the sub-unions in the county are requested to send a full delegation. Let's have a large turn-out as the State Lecturer is expected to be there.

T. G. CAMPBELL, Pres.

Remember.

That the old reliable Dick Dorr has charge of the undertaking department. Full line of caskets, coffins, robes and slippers at Schwab's.

Furniture of all kinds, doors, sash and glass cheap at Schwab's.

Shoes! Shoes! Shoes for every body at Mrs. Wolf's.

The largest and prettiest lot of calicoes at Mrs. Wolf's

Our new stock is now all in and every department is full and complete at prices lower than ever.

Mrs. Wolf

Sugar, 30 lbs to the dollar at Morse & McConnel's.

J. D. Hodge, Secy.

Marriage Licenses

have been issued to Frank K. Manns and Mrs. Fanney Patterson; Herbert L. Glover and Dora Agent.

Ellis S. James to Miss Margaret A. Bolt.

Joe E. Lemon to Miss Anna Clegg.

THE POOR-HOUSE.

A Disgrace to the County. For some years it has been rumored that the state of affairs at the county poor-house was not such that conducted to the happiness nor comfort of those unfortunate who appeal to the charity of the county for maintenance. But until recently these floating reports were given little or no credence. Monday the Court of Claims convened to look after county finances and county institutions generally. On Tuesday the new Superintendent of the poor house, Mr. W. H. Asher, made his report concerning the management of this institution. His written report was handed in and read to the court by County Attorney Blue. This report showed that in the way of household goods and clothing the provision was about as scanty as it could be and bear a name. The report gave an invoice of goods on hand when Mr. Asher began his duties as Superintendent, and also of the present contents.

After this Mr. Asher was called upon for an oral statement and he made it. Mr. Asher is a responsible man and no one could or would for a moment question anything he said, yet it was hard to believe that there was a habitation in this or any other county so destitute of cleanliness, and so foreign to comfort. The paupers were clothed in rags, and scantly clothed at that, and the rags were filthy. The place of their habitation was filthy and foul in the extreme, totally unfit for a home for a human being. This was the condition when Mr. Asher made his first visit, and about the time the present keeper took charge. Since then there had been some improvement, but the inmates were still poorly clad, there was no fuel, and cleanliness was still a stranger to the place.

After discussing the matter the magistrates directed the Superintendent to buy clothes for the paupers, if the keeper failed, and to deduct the cost from the keeper's allowance.

The PRESS could not give in detail the story told about the situation and the treatment meted out to those, who have placed themselves upon the hands of a Christian people for support.

There things should not be. Unless the county can give at least a decent home, surrounded at least with primitive comforts, it had better shut up the shop and announce that it has no poor-house. A mistake was made when the property was purchased. The sooner it is disposed of and the poor-house located near the county seat the better it will be.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The Superintendent Makes His Visits and Offers Some Pertinent Remarks.

The Superintendent visited the following schools and teachers last week:

Belmont, S. W. Paris.

Harmony, J. K. Beard.

Shady Grove, W. B. Davis.

Bellville, J. F. Canada.

Elon, R. O. Davis.

Elmwood, T. P. Crawford.

WE HUNTED FOR TROUBLE.
A Louisville Work House Guard Shot Through the Heart.
LOUISVILLE, Oct. 12.—There was a bloody fight at a saloon in the suburbs of the city Sunday night, in which Dennis Fitzpatrick, a guard at the workhouse, was shot through the heart. Dan McAniffe, son of a lieutenant of the police force, and John McGrath, a letter carrier, were passing the saloon, when Fitzpatrick, who had been drinking, soon entered, when Fitzpatrick drew a pistol and fired. The others returned the fire, and Fitzpatrick fell dead from a bullet in his breast.

Beginning of a Feud.
PINEVILLE, Ky., Oct. 13.—At this hour John Parton, the man who shot his cousin, Beth Parton, several days ago, is dying. He was shot through the abdomen Sunday afternoon by his cousin, William Parton, deputy marshal of this city, while the latter was arresting a man who had been here, of whom who knew, that this shooting is the prelude to a feud that will result in the shedding of much human blood before it ends.

Bloody Battle on a Railroad Train.
MIDDLESBORO, Ky., Oct. 13.—The last train for this city was leaving the fair grounds at Arthur, Tenn., Saturday evening, when a regular pitched battle between some fifteen hoodlums and special policemen took place, which will probably result in the death of several of them, as four men were seen to drop before the train disappeared.

Shot on the Street.
OWENSBORO, Ky., Oct. 13.—Dave Pruitt, colored boy, shot in Adams field of this city on the street at noon Saturday. Pruitt was drinking and without provocation shot Adams through the breast and arm. This shooting was desperate characters, and the shooting was the outcome of a previous quarrel.

The Case—Doodin Murder Case.
SOMMER, Ky., Oct. 10.—The Cope-Doodin murder case was heard before the circuit court at Judge Morrow's chambers between 10 and 11 o'clock, with forty witnesses to be examined. The case was tried a year ago, but the jury disagreed. Doodin and Cope shot William Watson while trying to quell a disturbance at a picnic a year ago. There is much interest in the trial.

Fatal Injured by a Wild Boar.
HOPKINSVILLE, KY., Oct. 10.—A little-four-year-old son of Robert Lindsey, of Muhlenberg county, was playing in a pasture when he was attacked by a vicious boar running at him, to which he was seriously if not fatally wounded, having a long and ugly gash torn in his back.

Testing Kentucky's Constitution.
FRANKFORT, KY., Oct. 10.—Walter Evans, believed to represent the Louisville and Nashville railroad, fled to have the new constitution annulled on the grounds that over one hundred changes were made after it had been voted upon. It is generally believed that the constitution will stand.

A Disappointment.
"So you have been abroad?"
"Yes."
"You have visited Paris?"

"Yes, we have stayed only one day there. We went there to improve ourselves in the French language, and were awfully disappointed."

"How so?"
"Why they don't speak the French there at all like we do—"New York Press.

The Same Thing.
Edith—You can't imagine how Mr. Bulfinch complimented your singing.
Edith—Did he, though?
Edith—Yes, he said "twas simply heavenly."
Edith—Really?

Edith—Well, just the same thing. He said "twas simply unearthly."—Boston Courier.

Safe.
Kingley (writing Blugoo)—I like to come over to your house (puff) because I always (puff) feel such absolute freedom about smoking. My wife (puff) makes such a fuss about it, and I am afraid that it makes the slightest difference to your wife, does it? Blugo (ploddy)—No, no so long (puff) as I have a guest.—Harper's Bazaar.

Kissed.
"Do you see that pale young man calling out 'Kiss me' at the ribbon counter?"
"Yes."
"Fate's awful funny sometimes. Ten years ago, when we were boys together, his one ambition was to be a mighty hunter and catch mountain lions with a lasso."—New York Recorder.

A Model Servant.
"What is your pleasure, sir?"
"I want to see the Baron de Venimont."
"What is it about?"
"There's a bill!"
"He left yesterday for the country."
"Which I have to pay him."
"But he has come back this morning."—Pettit Nord.

Good Counsel for Amateur Beekeepers.
A correspondent in the American Bee Journal gives this advice to beginners: Keep things in order in the apiary; Have your tools, empty hives, sections, crates, etc., in their respective places, ready for use, in the event of a emergency.

Now, when a beekeeper sees a wild, excited, neither here nor there, bee, while in a storm, hot, windy days, hungry desirous, nor while robber bees are bent on pilage.

To avoid bee stings, proceed quietly and with care while working among your bees, do your work with dispatch, and have your hive closed before the bees become aware that you have been near.

Never work among bees without a smoker, but use it judiciously, and on proper occasions to keep them under subjection and prevent their anger, but in case of accidentally upsetting a hive the spraying of the bees with cold water will have the effect of quieting them.

We are sending you this for any length of time do not let it sit too long trouble to protect your head and face with a beeveil. Watch carefully each hive in your apiary, notice the doings of each colony of bees, and have a full understanding of their wants and needs, as you will seldom have to mourn over heavy losses and bad luck.

Section of Wax by Nose.
In producing extracted honey with old combs, do not the bees secrete more wax than they can use with profit? In other words, is not some of the wax wasted? was a query propounded and answered recently in the American Bee Journal.

Professor O'Connor said: "I do not think so. I believe this waste of wax is imaginary. Bees secrete wax when they need it." A. R. Mason said: "My bees do not secrete wax unless they need it. The idea that bees have to make wax, whether they want to or not, is a humbug, I believe." The editor said, "As bees only produce wax when they need it, the chance for waste is infinitesimally small."

Kerosene as a Paint.
Kerosene cannot be used in place of linseed oil or turpentine by mixing colors with it for painting on wood. Kerosene strikes into wood easily, and if used in that way would soon lose only a coating of dry color which would easily brush off. Kerosene is refined from the crude oil petroleum, and for preserving wood from decay or preventing the rusting of iron by covering its surface with an oily coating the latter is by far the preferable form for its use. It should simply be put on with a brush like paint, but wholly without any coloring matter.

A HOMEMADE SWARMING APPARATUS.
Many times bees light high, or on fruit or ornamental trees that we do not wish to injure by cutting the limb off. In such a case some kind of a swarming apparatus is very convenient. The one here reproduced from Ohio Farmer is made from a long forked stick. Bend the forks together in the shape of a hook, and just large enough to go around the limb. Then cut a hole in the top of the hook, and fasten the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten the two parts together again, so they can be easily taken apart. This makes a very good swarming arrangement. It is very cheap, light and convenient, says the authority quoted.

Shake the bees from the limb into the sack, turn it over, and no bees can escape; carry them to the hive take the cover off, and gently lay the sack on top of the frames, so the bees can crawl out of the sack down into the hive. Sometimes a swarm will have to wait hours to get into the hive, but this fastens the comb in the mouth of the sack. Bend the stick near the fork. For convenience cut the stick in two near the fork, and fasten